Literacy

We will practise writing using early inventive spelling, write CVC words and being able to write simple words and phrases. We will also learn how to write in the format of instructions and how these differ to fiction text types.

Maths

As mathematicians, we will learn our number bonds to 5 and work towards being able to recall these. We will also learn the composition and conceptual variations of the numbers, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 and then compare numbers to 10.

Physical Development

We will develop ball skills through the topic of weather and practise throwing and catching. We will be able to roll a ball, dribble with our feet and work towards developing our fine and gross motor skills independently and with a partner.

Personal, Social and Emotional Development

We will work together to develop partner skills and teamwork. We will also discuss personal goals and the attributes needed to stay motivated and not give up. We will learn about obstacles and challenges along the way and the importance of being resilient.

Communication and Language

We will learn lots of new scientific and geographical vocabulary and use it when we are discussing what we have discovered from conducting science experiments.

Understanding the World

As Scientists, we will identify different foods and their textures and tastes. We will observe changes that happen to foods when toasted, cooked, set and left to decay. As Geographers, we will learn about similarities and differences between our local area and different places around the world. We will then learn about the food links to different countries and how the weather in each country affects the food grown. As Theologians, we will learn about why people celebrate Chinese New Year and the traditions that are celebrated too.

Expressive Arts and Design

As Designers, we will learn about different ingredients and how these change when cooked. We will follow a recipe to make our own design.
